"U.S. Federal Housing is transforming Freddie Mac, making it more efficient and effective, and improving productivity over time. We grew the business in the second quarter, with our mortgage portfolio ending at $3.6 trillion. Earnings for the quarter reflected that growth, as well as the reserve we added to manage our portfolio safely and soundly. The quarter's $2.4 billion of earnings further enhanced our safety, taking Freddie Mac's net worth to nearly $65 billion. Overall, the company served more than 360,000 homebuyers and renters in the quarter, with 53% of the homes and 95% of rental units affordable to low- and middle-class families."

William J. Pulte, Director, U.S. Federal Housing and Chair of the Board of Directors, Freddie Mac McLean, VA — Freddie Mac (OTCQB: FMCC) today reported net income of $2.4 billion for the second quarter of 2025, down 14% from the second quarter of 2024, primarily driven by an increase in the provision for credit losses.

Net revenues were $5.9 billion for the second quarter of 2025, down 1% year-over-year, primarily driven by lower non-interest income, partially offset by higher net interest income. Net interest income for the second quarter of 2025 was $5.3 billion, up 8% year-over-year, primarily driven by continued mortgage portfolio growth and lower funding costs, partially offset by lower yields on short-term investments. Non-interest income for the second quarter of 2025 was $0.6 billion, down 42% year-over-year, primarily driven by Multifamily.

Provision for credit losses was $0.8 billion for the second quarter of 2025, primarily driven by a credit reserve build in Single-Family attributable to lower estimated market values of single-family properties based on the company's internal house price index and lower forecasted house price growth rates. The provision for credit losses of $0.4 billion for the second quarter of 2024 was primarily driven by a credit reserve build in Single-Family attributable to new acquisitions.
